BEFORE C. C. SMITH, ESQ. for unlawfully detaining a dog.

The complainant a Ohinese girl named Leong. Atni said she had missed her Japanese dog, from her house and found it at defendant's; and he refusing to return it she had procured a summons. TER ACROY, also a female said that in the absence of the former witness the defendant had come to their house, and asked to see a woman. on being told that there was no women for him to see, he took the dog. Defendant, said that he had called at the house with a friend, and the friend had taken the dog. The friend had since left Hongkong, and he (deendant) did not know the name of his friend. The magistrate said that defendant had not improved his case by telling such an unlikely story. and ordered him to bring the dog to the Court. Case remanded. A boat hawker received one rupes for some
